There are apparently those who feel that the present terms 'Major' and 'Minor' should be discarded and some more suitlable alternatives found. One soccer officer who has given this a lot of thought points out that in modern language 'minor' is often synonymous with, 'inferior' and he suggests that it is misleading to imply that because one unit happens to be smaller in establishment than another it is of necessity inferior in a footballing sense, "Call them 'Small Units' if you like but let us have no more of this minor stuff" was how he put it to me the other day. This is an interesting point and certainly if one looks back over recent seasons and remembers 'minor' teams like Command Workshops, 6 COD, Command Pay Office, and several others, there was certainly nothing inferior about them when compared with some of the contemporary major teams.

Syria laid a formal complaint with the Turkish Government and demanded the release of the "hostages "
